Bay man fatally wounded in Gulfport

Delfred Lewis, Jr. of Bay St. Louis was fatally wounded in Gulfport.

SEA COAST ECHO

Gulfport police have identified a Bay St. Louis man as the victim in a fatal shooting on Wednesday afternoon.

Delfred Lewis, Jr., 20, was declared dead at Memorial Hospital at 3:45 p.m. Wednesday. His cause of death was a single gunshot wound, according to the Harrison County Coroner's Office. Gulfport police were called to the shooting scene on the 600 block of 25th Street near Hewes Avenue at a little before 3 p.m. Wednesday, according to a Gulfport P.D. statement.

Once officers arrived, they found Lewis suffering from his wound and had him transported to the hospital before he died, police said.

Police are looking for Trellis "T.J." Burnett in connection with the case. They warned the public that Burnett should be considered "armed and dangerous," but have not yet officially named him as a suspect in Lewis' death.

Anyone with information about the shooting or Burnett's whereabouts is asked to contact the Gulfport Police Department at 228-868-5959.

Anonymous tips can also be made to Mississippi Coast Crime Stoppers online or by calling 877-787-5898.

Waveland moves forward with construction of new community center at Martin Luther King, Jr. Park

The current community center at MLK Park on Herlihy Street is "full of mold and rotting," Waveland Mayor Mike Smith. Construction of a new community center is scheduled to begin in mid-June.

The Waveland Board of Mayor and Aldermen during a special meeting on Friday approved a grant agreement with MDA, which will allow for the construction of a new community center at Martin Luther King, Jr. Park on Herlihy Street to move forward.

The 1,200-square-foot community center will house a concession stand, outdoor and indoor restrooms, and a community kitchen, Waveland City Clerk Mickey Lagasse said Friday.

The original estimated cost for the project was about $333,000. However, the bids came in over the original estimate.

At the end of last year, Mayor Mike Smith, Lagasse, and Alderman Bobby Richardson went to Jackson to ask MDA for the additional funding.

At the Jan. 16 meeting, the board announced that MDA had agreed to fund the rest of the rest of the projects, in the amount of $269,708.

Since the additional funding is coming from a different account, the board had to go through the approval process once again, Lagasse said.

The board on Friday also named David Rush Construction, LLC as "most responsive, lowest, and best bidder in the amount of $488,000 as recommended by Compton Engineering."

Lagasse said that a pre-construction meeting will be

Bonnet Carre Spillway reopened

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers opened the Bonnet Carre Spillway on Friday, while the wildlife in the Mississippi Sound is still struggling to recover after the spillway's opening in February.

The spillway was opened "in an abundance of caution ...," the Corps of Engineers said in a press release issued Friday, "to ensure the safe passage of this high water by limiting the elevations down-river of the spillway."

The spillway was built in 1931 to help prevent flooding in New Orleans and surrounding communities, but until this week had only been opened 13 times in its history. Friday marked the first time it had ever been opened twice in the same year.

The reason it is rarely opened, Corps officials said, is to limit the impact of the freshwater entering the Lake Pontchartrain basin and the Mississippi Sound.

Last month saw unprecedented damage to the Sound's habitat, with 28 dolphins and 57 sea turtles found dead along the Gulf Coast in April alone.

Students share their environmental efforts with Bay St. Louis Council

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The city of Bay St. Louis -- long known as "A Place Apart" -- was A Place for Children on Tuesday when several students from the Hancock County Boys and Girls Club spoke to the Bay City Council about their efforts on Magnolia Bayou and the city's Martin Luther King Park.

Kelsey Johnson, community planner at Gulf Coast Community Design Studio, opened the remarks Tuesday, then turned the floor over to the children.

Several children told councilmen that Magnolia Bayou, a hidden 800-acre watershed that includes much of downtown Bay St. Louis, is an important coastal stream.

The project examined environmental conditions in Bay St. Louis' Magnolia Bayou Watershed, an area heavily impacted by rapid development.

The program focused on how upsurge in residential development and urbanization is threatening the Bay St. Louis Bayou's fragile ecosystem.

The STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) program was made possible with a NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration) - 21st Century Community Learning Center Watershed STEM Education Partnership Grant through the National Marine Sanctuary Foundation, Johnson said.

Fifth Annual Pirate Day in the Bay next Weekend

SEA COAST ECHO

Bay St. Louis, MS – This weekend, Old Town Bay St. Louis, MS will be teaming with rogue pirates and swashbucklers during the fifth annual Pirate Day in the Bay festival. The downtown event, organized by the non-profit Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse, will be centered around Pirate Central, located at South Beach Boulevard and Court Street.

The expanding event draws locals and visitors from all across the south and was recently named a Top Twenty Event by the Southeast Tourism Society, chosen from events taking place across twelve southern states.

Developed to celebrate the Bay's pirate history dating back over 200 years, the event kicks off Friday, May 17th at 4:00 pm, when pirates officially arrive in Bay St. Louis and begin meandering their way through Old Town with a Pub Crawl and Scavenger Hunt throughout local eateries and establishments. This adults-only event requires tickets, which can be purchased in advance or at Pirate Central that day.

Enjoy live music by the Castaways beginning at 8pm.

On Saturday, May 18th, the event turns family-friendly with a Lil' Buccaneers' Parade at 11am led by Bay St. Louis' Bay Ratz Marching Battery. The parade will begin at the corner of Main St. and Second St., and end at Pirate Central. A popular costume contest will follow the parade with an overall adult male and female winner named, as well as top three winners in three different children's age groups.

Also on Saturday, a sold-out pirate cruise returns to shore about 5pm, followed by the Pirate Invasion Parade at 5:30pm. Shop with craft vendors all day and enjoy live entertainment featuring Dr. Rock & the Interns beginning at 7pm. Pirate Day wraps up with fireworks over the harbor, sponsored by Silver Slipper Casino at 9pm.

Budget Travel Magazine named "the Bay" one of the "Coolest Small Towns in America" in 2013. Coastal Living Magazine named Bay St.

Louis one of the top ten small beach towns in the country in 2010, and it was also named in the Official Best of Mississippi listing as the Best Pleasure Seekers Paradise in 2014.

The event is sponsored by Silver Slipper Casino, ABC Rental, Bayou Caddy Utility South, Rosetti's Liquor Barrel, Vintage Lighthouse and Beacon Theaters.

Full details and the schedule can be found on the website www.MKOTSH.com. For advance tickets to the Pirate Pub Crawl, go to eventbrite.com/e/pirate-day-in-the-bay-tickets-60034689372. For further information, call Dina Rosetti at (228) 216-6416 or Ginny Cabell at (601) 953-1972.

Pirate Day in the Bay returns to downtown Bay St. Louis Friday and Saturday, May 17th-18th, with everything from a Pirate Invasion to a play zone for kids, as well as live music, fireworks and a pirate costume contest. Make plans to join in as pirates take over Old Town Bay St. Louis with rollicking fun for all ages.

Senior Citizen Health and Information Fair scheduled for this Wednesday, May 15

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The annual Senior Health and Information Fair is scheduled for May 15 at the Bay St. Louis Community Center.

The event is sponsored by the SALT Council, the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, the Area Agency on Aging, and the Hancock County Senior Center.

SALT Council chairman Jim Thriffley said the fair is one of many of the organizations host for senior citizens throughout the year. Other events include the senior prom, fish fries, and programs that help seniors understand their circumstances, Thriffley said.

The programs are made possible through grants obtained by the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, he added.

Each year, vendors attend the fair with informational booths.

"We are still in need of vendors for this year's fair," Hancock County Senior Citizen Director Arlene Johnson said.

In addition to informational booths, the fair will also feature giveaways and a free cookout for seniors.

The event is open to all senior citizens residing in Hancock County.

"It's to promote a higher and better quality of life for our seniors," Thriffley said. "The added benefits of the health fair promotes their well-being."

The Senior Health and Information Fair will be held at the Bay St. Louis Community Center, located at 301 Blaize Ave., from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on May 15.

Anyone interested in hosting an informational table can contact Candy Brister at 228-209-8729 or Johnson at 228-467-9292.

The Senior Center also offers daily classes in ceramics, crafts, quilting, and oil painting.

to the center can participate in the center's transportation program. Drivers pick up seniors Monday through Friday in Bay St. Louis, and Waveland; Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in Pearlinton and areas north of I-10 such as Diamondhead, Catahoula, and Kiln. Drivers also take seniors to run errands, shop for groceries, pay bills, and attend medical appointments. Seniors are also served breakfast and lunch at the center. The only criteria to participate is that people be at least 60 years old and live in Hancock County.

The Hancock County Senior Citizens Center is located at 601 Bookter St. in Bay St. Louis. For more information about programs, contact staff at 228-467-9292.

Rock your block: Countywide cleanup

Think you'll be heard?

Yeah, Right!

Primetime broadcast network television viewership is down 50% since the 1980s.

13 million fewer households watched The Oscars this year than only a decade ago.

More than 1/3 of US households will own a DVR by the year 2010, allowing them to easily record programs and skip through commercials.

BE LOUD AND CLEAR!

Despite all the doom and gloom news you hear about newspapers, the decline in readership that the pundits report as near death is about .25% nationwide in the past two years — and the primary reason is that community newspaper readership is growing at an unprecedented rate.

Add to that the fact that 44% of all active internet users visited a newspaper Web site last month, and you'll realize that community newspapers and their affiliated Web sites deliver the largest loyal, local, repeat audience of any media in the marketplace.

Take a second to thank mom this weekend

Sunday marks the annual day each year we “officially” celebrate moms.

I’ve never been sure why the world limits it to one day. Mothers deserve so much more.

My mom has been one of the biggest fans in my newspaper career – and for that, I’m forever grateful.

It was back when I had snared my first job at a paper when I learned about that support firsthand. I was a sports agate clerk – think answering phone calls, typing in a lot of statistics and writing prep and college recaps as the basic job description – but I was also only starting my junior year in high school.

After my soccer or baseball practice or game and a quick dinner, mom would drive me to work. The bigger task was when she’d come back to the paper to pick me up – many times around midnight.

Why, you ask? That’s because I was just 15 years old and hadn’t qualified for a driver’s license just yet. Those late night shuttle runs for several months are still near and dear to my heart some three-plus decades later.

Mom would also always have dinner waiting for my three younger siblings and me. Mysteriously, they were always served on clean dishes. All of us were involved in a variety of school activities and sports and life was nonstop on the busy scale. We undoubtedly took all of that for granted way too often.

We also always had laundered clothes for school or a sparkling, clean uniform for our games. I must have thought back in the day that all of that dirt magically disappeared from this grungy catcher’s baseball pants.

Again, we didn’t know just how good we had it at the time.

Mom pulled all of that off in addition to working as a schoolteacher herself. That’s never an easy task with all of the “homework” tasks that teachers have to shuffle in making plans and grading papers outside the building. She made juggling her career and mom duties look like a breeze. Today, I know firsthand it’s just not that simple.

There are always people in life who might give you admiration. Rarely does anyone except your mom give you that through the good and the bad, the thick and the thin. You can call a mother’s love unique in that regard.

Mom will be in town this week for my youngest son’s graduation from Bay High School. It’ll be a great opportunity to thank her for all of those years of hard work. Being a mom is a thankless job sometimes.

Take the opportunity on Sunday to change that up and tell your mother just how much she means to you. A special Happy Mother’s Day to all of the great women out there.

Wicker Celebrates Judicial Confirmation Milestone: More Great Nominations to Come

The future of the courts was one of the most important issues of the 2016 presidential election. There was a good reason for that. Justice Scalia’s sudden death in February of that year reminded everyone of the high stakes in electing a president with the power to choose judges with lifetime appointments.

Candidate Donald Trump understood this. He took the welcome step of releasing a list of his potential nominees for the Supreme Court before any votes were cast. As President, he has followed through by nominating Neil Gorsuch and Brett Kavanaugh to the highest court in the land, along with a slate of other well-qualified picks for lower courts.

The Senate is making good on the hopes of the American people and promises of President Trump, confirming its 100th judicial nominee at the end of April. This milestone shows that we have kept our word to voters.

More nominations are coming and, thanks to a recent Senate rules change, future candidates will face a streamlined confirmation process.

OVERCOMING HISTORIC OBSTRUCTION

This accomplishment has come despite attempts to halt its progress.

Nominees are thoroughly vetted by the White House and by the Senate. They meet with senators individually to discuss their views and qualifications well before they come up for votes in committees or on the floor. Members have many chances to voice their concerns, but the Senate only has so much time as a whole body to consider each candidate.

Democrats used a procedural rule calling for 30 hours of debate a record 128 times during President Trump’s first two years in office. By contrast, Presidents Bush, Clinton, and Obama faced this same hurdle only 24 times combined in their first two years. Most of the president’s nominees are not controversial, and many Democratic senators end up voting for them after they leave the procedural limbo.

The Commerce Committee, which I chair, has also been affected by these stalling tactics.

Ronald Batory – a man with four decades of experience in the railroad industry and an excellent reputation – saw the rules abused to delay his nomination by more than 200 days. When Mr. Batory finally did come up for a vote, he was confirmed unanimously. The lengthy debate time was never used for debate, only delay. He should have been on the job and improving rail safety months before. This same maneuver slowed scores of other judicial and executive branch confirmations, kept the government from doing its job, and discouraged qualified Americans from entering public service.

THE SENATE IS DOING ITS PART

The Republican-led Senate is ending this unacceptable obstruction by improving how our chamber operates. Now, two

The Seafood Industry in Hancock County (1960-2017)

The seafood industry in Hancock County during the 20th century shifted from Bay St. Louis on the eastern side of the county to Bayou Caddy on the western side. Bayou Caddy is the nickname of the stream formally known as Bayou Cadet on charts and maps located on the Gulf Coast in Lakeshore, just west of Waveland and Clermont Harbor.

Bayou Cadet is named after Jean Cadet La Fontaine (1795-1854) who was the first permanent French resident that docked his schooner in this local safe harbor.

Over the past sixty years, commercial fishermen in Hancock County have concentrated their fishing efforts on oysters rather than shrimp, crabs, and finfish. A fleet of oyster luggers currently docks in Bayou Caddy. The history of the seafood industry in Hancock County over the past 150 years is about hardworking families that built businesses large and small with names such as Bordage, Pincher, Ortte, Strong, Ladner, and Cure. The economy of this sector of our local marketplace is subject from time to time to the capricious whims of Mother Nature. The biology and anatomy of oyster farming and harvest is an important part of this history.

Our story begins in 1959 and is about a local shrimper and his wife, Joseph “Joe” Eloï Cure (1928-2010) and Sylvia Ross Bertel Cure (b. 1938). They purchased a small fishing camp on Bayou Caddy. The Bayou Caddy fishing camp sold beer, bait, and ice to recreational fishermen.

Joe would shrimp during the day while Sylvia ran the business on shore. Sylvia and Joe are the parents of four children: Cindy, Joey, Michael, and Susie. Joe Cure’s father, Joe Sr., was a skilled boat builder who worked at the Halter (Higgins) Shipyards in New Orleans.

Over the years, Joe and his father built additional oyster boats for the family business. Each new boat launched was named after each new child, and then later, after each new grandchild. As the Cure family grew, so did the fleet of oyster luggers.

The family business, now named the Bayou Caddy Fisheries Inc. (BCFI), evolved into the major wholesale or “middleman” in Hancock County providing fresh oysters to markets in Alabama and Florida.

After school the children would help out and work on the waterfront accomplishing tasks such as unloading the sacks of oysters.

She was born to Donald and Effie Graham Power McCulloch on August 27, 1946, in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Linda was a stellar student at all levels of her education at Christ Episcopal Day School, Bay High and Millsaps College, culminating in her Master's degree at USM. She began her career as a teacher at Coast Episcopal High School, later rising to Principal. She retired from her position as Director of Volunteer Services at Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

Linda's faith was unshakeable from an early age, despite personal tragedies and the disease that led to her passing. She was a member of Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis and later St. Patrick's Episcopal Church in Long Beach throughout her life. She assumed positions of leadership at both churches several times, both in her student and adult years. She was possessed of a keen intellect and delightful sense of humor. Many people were drawn to her as a result of these traits, as well as her exceptional character. As a teacher, Linda was an inspiration to her students, many of whom have attributed their success in life to the influence she had upon them.

She was a steadfast friend to people she met during each chapter of her life going back to her earliest days and engendered strong and enduring relationships. She loved to read and was a diehard fan of the Saints during football season and the St. Louis Cardinals during baseball season. Her annual trip to Maine in the summer with her close friends was a highlight of her year. She was a terrific conversationalist with a variety of interests, and she had an infectious smile and laugh.

Linda was preceded in death by her parents; and her older brother, Donald Graham McCulloch.

She is survived by her brother, Jim McCulloch (Susie), and their children, Lauren (Greg) Semlinger and Graham McCulloch, as well as Lauren and Greg's daughter, Margaret Ann (Maggie) Semlinger. A picture of Maggie was all it took to bring a smile to Linda's face even during her darkest days.

The family's deepest thanks go to Sandra Rhodes and Norah Bryant, her friends and traveling companions who cared for her every need during her illness, shared her tears, and even got her to laugh in her final days.

The funeral service will be held at 10:00 AM, on Saturday, June 1, 2019, at St. Patrick's Episcopal Church, Long Beach.

The family requests that in lieu of flowers, a contribution be made to St. Patrick's Episcopal Church or to Coast Episcopal School learned about the animals and plants located in the bayou, they drew pictures and completed data sheets about each topic. The students conducted water quality testing, observed biological diversity and studied other scientific data. They translated information they learned about the area into a multimedia art exhibition that was open to the public.

The students used what they learned to create a multi-media art exhibition that was open to the public. Mississippi State University recognized the project last month with an Excellence in Community Engagement Award.

Johnson and the students -- along with architect Allison Anderson -- also told the council about landscape designs for the Bay's Martin Luther King Park at the corner of Washington Street and Old Spanish Trail.

Community residents and city officials vowed last year to "take back the park" after D'Ante Washington was shot and killed at the park.

Allison Anderson and her husband John, owners of unabridged Architecture, designed a planting and green space project the Boys & Girls Club to prepare at the park. The Andersons also designed new parking facilities and a brick wall "to make the park more appealing and safer," Allison said.

"We will do the planting in the fall because that's a better time to put plants in," she said; and Bay Council President Jeffery Reed will donate the bricks and labor to build the wall.

Reed thanked the students, Johnson and Anderson for their time Tuesday, and said he and the rest of the council will get with legal counsel on the necessary paperwork and procedures for accepting the donated work and materials.

D'Ante Washington's

mother, Twanna Washington, followed the presentation Tuesday and told the council in a tearful address she was grateful for everyone's efforts.

"Renovations are being made and I'm glad," she said. "I just want to be sure it's turned into a safe space for those babies because (D'Antae) has a two-year old son that still plays at the park."

In other action Tuesday, the council:

- Approved a proclamation declaring May 5 through 11 as "National Small Business Week" in Bay St. Louis. The council presented the proclamation to Nikki Moon, president of the board of directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

According to the proclamation, "Bay St. Louis supports and joins in this national effort to help America's small businesses do what they do best -- grow their business, create jobs and ensure that our communities remain as vibrant tomorrow as they are today."

held in about two weeks. He said he expects the contractor to break ground on the project about mid-June.

"Rather than hold up this project any longer, I called this special meeting to get the board's approval," Smith said. "Right now, the current community center is full of mold and rotting."

The grant funding will also cover the cost of new playground equipment, Smith said. The new community center will also be available for rental.

"This is about bringing more people back to MLK Park," Smith said. "It will be a safer and nicer place to have events. That's what I'm most excited about."

Smith added that the contractor has up to a year to complete the project, but that it shouldn't take that long.

Spillway

Marine Mammal Studies (IMMS) in Gulfport, said last month after a Kemp's Ridley turtle was found washed up on the beach in Waveland.

The dead dolphins and turtles all seem to have suffered from skin and eye lesions that are consistent with freshwater damage, Solangi said.

Due to the opening of the spillway, "A very significant amount -- trillions and trillions of gallons of fresh water over a long period of time -- has been introduced to the Mississippi Sound ...," Solangi said. "When a huge amount of fresh water comes in like that, it significantly alters the habitat.

"In addition, if you put this huge slug of freshwater and silt and mud and clay and all that effluent that's up in the Mississippi River -- and fertilizer and all of that -- that's not where the water from the Mississippi Sound normally comes from. The Mississippi River drains these effluents. It's not only fresh water, it's all these other components. You're now introducing that water into a body of water that's not used to it."

"We need to be looking deep into" ways to fix the continuing problems, Solangi said. "The spillways were created in the early 1900s. We need to rethink our strategies."

To report dead or stranded marine life, call the IMMS at 888-767-3657.

Hancock is 6A state runner-up on links, area golfers fare well

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Over the course of the past two weeks, area high school golfers have saved their best for last on the links.

The Hancock Lady Hawks and Pass Christian Pirates competed in the team rankings for their respective classifications while individual golfers from OLA and St. Stanislaus made their way to the links to compete.

The Hancock Lady Hawks placed second overall in the team rankings for Class 6A girls with a two-day total of 328 behind champion Ocean Springs with a two-day total of 320 at the end of the tournament held April 29-30 at Clear Creek Country Club.

Katelyn Altese of Hancock was low medalist shooting a 148 over two rounds of golf. Altese was joined by Peyton Russell who finished in a tie for 12th with a two-round total of 180. Izzy Scardino finished the day in 45th with a two day total of 241.

Kati Albright of OLA finished as individual state runner-up at the Class I girls state championship held May 6-7 at River Birch Country Club. The Millsaps signee shot a two-day total of 159.

championship was held at Laurel Country Club April 29-30. Taylor Tinsley of Pass Christian shot a two-day total for 183.

The Class 4A boys state championship match was held at Elm Lake Country Club May 6-7.

Pass Christian competed in the team gauntlet finishing in 11th place with a two-day total of 795. Corinth won the team title with a low score of 645.

St. Stanislaus had two individuals compete in the state championships. Aiden Womack shot a 186 to finish the tournament tied for 32nd overall followed by Kendall Desportes with a 191 in a tie for 40th overall.

Gelpi signs with Rhodes College

Marguerite Gelpi, a senior on the track and field team, signed a National Letter of Intent to run track and field with Rhodes College on Friday.

Gelpi won the state championship in the Class 2A discus with a throw of 90'6" on Monday at the state track and field championships held at Pearl High School.

Gelpi commented, "I am excited about beginning a new chapter at Rhodes College and being able to continue to compete in track and field. It will be a big step but I am ready for the challenge."

Gelpi has qualified to compete as a freshman with a 30 on the ACT and a 4.0 GPA.

She has also been a member of the Ambassador Club, the HOBY staff, Vice-President of the Senior Class, Mu Alpha Theta, Spanish Honor Society, National Honor Society and the campus ministry program.

Gelpi added, "Track and Field at OLA has taught me valuable lessons like leadership and teamwork. In life, we are called on to be leaders all the while being a member of a team. Track is unique in such a way that we compete as individuals for a team goal. It has taught me how to persevere and seek out opportunities to lead. I look forward to continue doing that at Rhodes."

Gelpi will get the opportunity to continue throwing the discus while also trying the shot put, hammer throw and javelin.

Rhodes is a Division III school in the NCAA and a member of the Southern Athletic Association with Birmingham-Southern,

Berry, Centre, Hendrix Millsaps College,

Oglethorpe and Sewanee. The Lynx recently swept the men's and women's track and field titles at the SAA track and field championships held on the campus of Hendrix College on April 27th.

Take time to Make time

I knew I was in trouble when I hopped into the boat. It was a little before 4am and I had just hitched up to the trailer. I was in a rush leaving on my previous trip, and left a recirculating pump on. Both my cranking and house battery were left on, and were now stone dead.

Capt Alex answered the call on the first ring, and said, "awe man, we'll get it cranked". I was a little nervous, but knew we had time. I actually had enough time to pick up extra fuel, water and bait. All it took was a pair of jumper cables, and the 300 horse power Yamaha was purring like a kitten. I ran that morning with both batteries on, and by the time I got to Cat Island, the batteries had a good charge.

We spent the morning catching some really nice trout, a huge bull red, and

by Capt. Sonny Schindler

even a small bull shark. What could've been a total disaster, turned out to be a great day on the water.

All of our guides leave a "time cushion" before all of our trips. Somewhere between 45 minutes to 1 hour is the norm. This cushion can be used for flat tires, fuel stops, Tackle prep, and yes dead batteries. I don't think I've ever been on the boat, and not had something to fix, clean or replace. I strongly recommend y'all leave yourself plenty of time when getting ready for your fishing trips. I know when I'm rushed, I always forget things, and make mistakes.

So don't be afraid to set that alarm clock a little earlier. Take your time, double check your equipment and ease into your fishing trip. Having a good pair of jumper cables handy never hurts either...

As always, have fun and be safe.

BHS graduates sign athletic scholarships

BY MICHAEL D. GUNNELL
SOUTHWEST SPORTS INFORMATION

Southwest sophomore guards Jamaya Galloway and Amari Pittman, both graduates of Bay High School, signed scholarships Wednesday afternoon to continue their athletic and academic careers. Galloway elected to sign with the LSU-Alexandria Lady Generals while Pittman signed with the Tougaloo College Lady Bulldogs.

Galloway (5' 9") led the 2018-19 Lady Bears with 11.1 points per game. He hit 81.5% from the free throw line and 40.8% from three-point range while tallying 3.1 rebounds and a team-high 5.1 assists per game.

Galloway said she choose to sign with LSU-A because she "felt their academic excellence and successful basketball team would be the perfect environment for me."

During her time at Southwest, Galloway said she "learned about time management between schoolwork and basketball. Through basketball, I've learned how to not only feel good about winning, but also be able to pick out positives from a loss. I think these things will help me achieve whatever I put my mind to at the next level."

Lady Bears head coach Brent Harris said Galloway "has been a great leader for our basketball program. She had made countless crucial baskets for us over her two years at Southwest. (She) can be a three-point threat from the wing or be a point guard at LSU-A. She is the perfect example of a student-athlete; her grades are nearly perfect and she is a winner in every category."

Pittman (5' 8") totaled 8.5 points per game for the Lady Bears during the 2018-19 season. She hit 66.7% from the free throw line and averaged 4.5 rebounds and 1.4 assists per game.

Harris said Pittman "has also made some very big shots, mostly from the three-point line, in her two years at Southwest. Amari loves the game of basketball and really works hard on her craft. (She) never missed a day of practice over the past two years. (She) will be a three-point threat of Tougaloo's program."

Pittman said she chose to go with the Lady Bulldogs because "of their high graduation rate and dedication to the academic part of being an athlete along with their great and upcoming basketball program."

She said during her time as a Lady Bear, she "learned that hard work in the classroom will always translate to life situations (and) also that patience and non-stop working on what you want to achieve will always get you one step ahead."

OLA names Nick Middleton soccer coach

SEA COAST ECHO

Our Lady Academy recently announced that they have hired Nick Middleton, a native of Bay St. Louis and a graduate of St. Stanislaus College (SSC), to take over its girls soccer program.

Middleton was the Assistant Coach at Tennessee Wesleyan for the women's soccer team from 2009-2011 and also worked for McMinn United Futbol Club. Briefly having stints in the United Soccer League and the Premier Development League, Middleton returned to the Gulf Coast to begin coaching select soccer and middle school soccer at SSC. He then became Head Coach at SSC from 2006-2009. During the 2009 season he helped lead the Rocks to a South State Title.

Nick Middleton

"This is a great opportunity and I can't wait to get started," Middleton said. "We have a lot of hard work ahead of us but I look forward to building on the current team and laying down a strong foundation for the program for years to come."

Middleton was a member on SSC's state championship soccer teams in 1996 and 1997.

After graduation, he went on to play soccer at Meridian Community College. In his sophomore season he was a member of the National Championship team at MCC in 2000.

He continued his college soccer career at Tennessee Wesleyan College in Athens, TN. During his time at TWC he helped the team win Conference and Region titles, while also helping the team reach the NAIA National Tournament in 2001. While playing in college he received numerous individual honors.

Middleton now works at Stennis Space Center and resides in Kiln with his wife Sheena and their children Mia, Jude, and Jett.

Middleton will begin his new job at OLA on May 13, 2019, at which time he will host team tryouts for next season.

Hancock Youth Leadership Academy graduates 17 junior high leaders

SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock Youth Leadership Academy (HYLA) held a graduation ceremony for its eighth class of junior high students on Wednesday, May 1, 2019 at Saint Stanislaus' College Cafe. The graduation was the culmination of a program that began in January. Seventeen bright young students displaying strong leadership potential from all four area middle schools were chosen to participate in the program. Over the course of the last five months, HYLA students engaged in a series of sessions that developed and strengthened their self-awareness and leadership styles, exposed them to local government and county and municipal administration to promote civic engagement, increased their awareness of the importance of small business and industry to the health of the community, and demonstrated the role of the arts in sustaining a community's culture. The graduation ceremony was held immediately after the final session of the program, and was sponsored by Alexander, Van Loon, Sloan, Levens & Favre, PLLC. To start the day, the young leaders completed service projects that they planned. One project, "Community Cleanup" was comprised of six students who cleaned St. Mary Catholic Cemetery and the beach by the Washington Street pier. The second group, comprised of eleven students, organized the "Nursing Home Kindness". These students prepared goodie baskets and visited with the residents of Dunbar Village. Students then participated in several activities which provided the springboard to launch the students from the program, as they are now set to enter high school as young leaders with cultural sensitivity and a firm understanding of their community's assets and resources.

The Hancock Youth Leadership Academy is the first county-wide youth leadership program in Hancock County. HYLA extends sincere appreciation to the generous sponsors of the 2019 program: Accelerated Physical Therapy, AVL, (Alexander, Van Loon, Sloan, Levens & Favre), Brehm Bell, Attorney at Law, Betz, Rosetti & Associates, Clement Benvenuti, Attorney at Law, Chemours, Clay Creations, Coast Electric, Maria Compretta, JP Compretta, DAK Americas, Diamondhead Dental Clinic, Edmond Fahey Funeral Home, The First, ANBA, Mark and Leslie Henderson, Bert Keel, Jr. DMD,

OLA senior Kennady Hertz awarded MS SOFIA scholarship

SEA COAST ECHO

Our Lady Academy (OLA) Senior Kennady Hertz has been awarded the Mississippi Society of Italian American (MS SOFIA) Scholarship. The MS SOFIA Program is sponsored by the Gulf Coast Italian American Cultural Society (GCIACS) to in an effort to fund college scholarships to Italian American Students residing in the Mississippi Gulf Coast area. Candidates must submit an essay on what their heritage means to them and have at least one ancestor who has emigrated from Italy. Hertz wrote in her essay, "I have been blessed to have such a strong Italian heritage. My family instilled in me the values of a strong Catholic faith, family ties, and character. My grandfather's grandfather, Salvadore Palazzo, emigrated from Ustica to Gulfport in 1911. He overcame the setbacks and went on to produce a line of successors who would be sure to make him proud. In my family, there are teachers, doctors, Postmaster Generals, and even a U.S. Congressman, Steven Palazzo." Hertz has attained the Principal's honor roll since freshman year at OLA and is a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta Mathematics Society, Spanish Honor Society and is Co-Captain of the OLA Cross Country Varsity team. She is the recipient of the Schoen Heier Bonura Scholarship, named 2019 Star Student, and is the recipient of the 2019 President's Volunteer Award. In addition, she holds office as President of the OLA Interact Club, Class Representative of the SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) and Head of the Social Media/Community Outreach of the Robotics Team, Treasurer of Campus Ministry and Captain of the Quiz Bowl Team. Hertz will attend the Honors College at The University of Mississippi and will pursue a major in Public Policy Leadership and aspires to join the Italian-American Club to further study abroad.

Smart landscapes offer places for the wildlife

MS. BONNIE A. COBLENTZ
MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

STARKVILLE, Miss. -- Urbanization and agricultural pressures are decreasing natural habitats for wildlife, but Mississippians can take steps to make their own landscapes wildlife-friendly. Bob Brzuszek, Mississippi State University Extension Service professor of landscape architecture, said residential areas play an important role in conserving wildlife when carefully planned. "Homeowners can enhance the natural features in their yards and neighborhoods to create thriving wildlife habitats," Brzuszek said. "To attract wildlife, homeowners must provide food, water and shelter. Providing these essentials will attract wildlife such as birds, butterflies, small mammals, reptiles and amphibians." Leslie Burger, an Extension conservation educator and assistant professor, said altered or lost habitat is a problem for many wildlife species. "Your property can provide habitat for a variety of animals," Burger said. "Start by looking at what you have and don't have on your own property, and realize that in a neighborhood, you don't have to provide everything if your neighbors also provide some of what wildlife need." Many people's first thought for wildlife is to provide birdfeeders for songbirds and hummingbirds, but Burger said these require follow-up. "Birds congregate around feeders, and this may create an issue with droppings and seeds. Periodically removing waste and spilled feed will help prevent potential problems with weeds and disease, especially if you continue to feed birds during the summer months," Burger said. "If you put out hummingbird feeders, it is best to offer only enough that they can drink in one or two days so mold does not become an issue in the feeder. Both kinds of feeders must be taken down and disinfected regularly with a mild bleach solution," she said. A more natural solution is to provide habitat for them.

"When you are putting in a landscape, use native plantings that create food and shelter environments that the different animals need," Burger said. "This can be a neighborhood project, with neighbors getting together to plant a variety of food sources for desired birds and wildlife." This type of plan works for birds and butterflies, • See LANDSCAPES/ Page 2B

DWGAN Golfing News from April 2019

BY SHIRLEY HALTERMAN

Believe it or not, Spring is gradually descending on the town of Diamondhead, MS.

We are all very pleased to finally be able to get in our weekly rounds of golf.

On the first Tuesday of April, the 2nd, we veered from our traditional Trophy Day and held our Annual Scotch Doubles Event. Twenty-three couples participated in our game. And, our winners were: Low Gross — 1st Place was taken by Jerry & Chuck Ingraham, 2nd Place was taken by Rachel Stewart & Darwin Helms and 3rd Place was garnered by Sandy Merdinyan & Don Hertel. Low Net Winners — 1st Place was taken by Cheryl & Bob Saak, 2nd Place by Fran Smith and Glenn Brooks, and 3rd Place was won by Dinah & Ernie Knobloch. (Unfortunately Rachel Stewart & Darwin Helms had to leave before their picture could be taken documenting their 2nd Place Low Gross winning.). The event was followed by a nice lunch in the Club. This event is always enjoyed by all who take part in it.

Due to a tournament being held at our home course, several of us had the opportunity to play nine holes at our neighboring course, The Bridges. We played a Scramble with teams of 5 players. We only played for bragging rights and they belong to our 1st Place Team of Jerry Ingraham, Therese Mauterer, Sandy Merdinyan, Charlene Smuck and Pat VanDervort. With only 3 strokes more 2nd Place was a tie between the following two groups: the team of Pattie Blackwood, Marilyn Galus, Dinah Knobloch, Marsha Roberts, and Margaret Sherwood; and the team of Marsha Biestek, Sylvia Corban, Linda DeParto, Shirley Halterman and Fran Smith. It was a challenge and fun to play with many of our usual golfing partners at a totally different course layout.

On Tuesday, April 16th, we played our usual monthly Trophy Day. First Flight Gross winners were: Therese Mauterer (1st Place) and Ann Nutting (2nd Place). First Flight Net winners were: Margaret Sherwood (1st Place) and Sue Richards (2nd Place). Second Flight Gross winners were: Beryl Laird (1st Place) and Pat VanDervort (2nd Place). Second Flight Net winners were: Nancy Sislow (1st Place) and Fran Smith (2nd Place). Third Flight Gross winners were: Carol Wyrosdick (1st Place) and Charlene Smuck (2nd Place). Third Flight Net winners were: Mary Mizell (1st Place) and Mary Murray (2nd Place). Closest-to-the-Pin honors were captured by: Therese Mauterer in the first flight, Beryl Laird in the second flight, and Mary Mizell in the third another favorite in home landscapes.

Burger urged homeowners to plant the right selections to avoid unintentionally create a toxic habitat for them. Some hybrid and modified plant varieties may be fatal to the butterflies or birds that they attract.

Using native plants in the landscape is one of the best and easiest ways to encourage a diversity of wildlife. Consult with the local county Extension office for help.

Be sure that the environment being created attracts the desired wildlife and not unwanted animals.

“When you create wildlife habitat, you have the ability to be intentional and select against things just like you can select for them,” Burger said. “For example, don’t create a habitat for mice if you don’t want rat snakes.”

Yards can attract rabbits if some areas are allowed to grow a little higher and even some strategic “weeds” are permitted to remain.

“You’re more likely to have rabbits if your yard doesn’t look like a football field,” she said. “Rabbits raise their young in a nest they construct on the ground, so they need an area that has some shrubs and clumping grasses for protection from predators and the weather.”

The MSU Extension Service and Department of Landscape Architecture created Mississippi Smart Landscapes as the go-to digital source for those looking for simple, sustainable home landscapes. The site offers a variety of information to support environments that encourage wildlife, use water wisely, lower energy costs, and benefit both homes and neighborhoods.

If that’s Italian, Where’s the Pasta?

BY LINDA BIGLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Growing up in New Orleans almost all Italian meals came with a side of pasta and red gravy. Of course, we didn’t call it pasta back in the day; it was either spaghetti or macaroni. Fast forward many years and I learned that not all Italian food was tomato based with some sort of pasta.

The first recipe is quite easy to prepare and marvelously delicious.

• ROMAN CHICKEN
2 4 pound chickens cut into serving pieces
One fourth cup olive oil
One fourth cup butter
1 cup flour
2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon black pepper
1 and one half cups dry white wine

2 teaspoons chopped fresh rosemary
2 tablespoons fresh minced parsley
1 cup heavy cream, heated, but not boiled

Combine flour, salt, and pepper and lightly dredge the chicken pieces in the flour mixture. Heat oil and butter in a Dutch oven or large skillet over medium heat and brown chicken pieces. Remove browned chicken pieces to a large heat-proof baking dish. When all chicken pieces have been browned, drain off the fat and de glazes the pan by pouring in the white wine. Bring wine to a boil scraping the fond from the bottom of the pan.

Stir in the herbs and pour over the chicken, cover and bake in a 375 degree oven for 45 minutes or until chicken tests done. Pour the warm cream over the chicken and bake uncovered an additional 10 minutes.

Remove chicken to a serving platter, stir the sauce to blend and pour over chicken. Garnish with more chopped parsley.

Serves 6 to 8

Believe it or not, this rice dish is definitely Italian. I recommend using the Pancetta. It is Italian bacon which has been cured with salt and not smoked. Regular bacon can be used, if you insist.

• RISI E BISI
Rice and Peas
6 ounces Pancetta or bacon diced
2 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, minced
1 cup uncooked long-grained rice
2 cups chicken broth
1 teaspoon salt
10 ounces frozen peas
One half cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese

In a large skillet, sauté the bacon until crisp; remove from pan and pour off fat. Cook onion in the butter for about 5 minutes or until softened. Add rice and sauté until well coated with the butter and begins to turn golden. Stir in the chicken broth, salt, and peas; bring to a boil and reduce to a simmer. Cover the pan and cook for about 20 minutes or until rice absorbs all the stock and is tender. Toss with the cheese and bacon, serve immediately.

Serves 6

Many Europeans eat cheese and fruit for dessert. The final recipe combines both for an elegant end to a spectacular meal.

• PERE PIPIENE
Pears Stuffed with Gorgonzola Cheese
4 small firm, ripe pears
Juice of one lemon
3 ounces Gorgonzola cheese at room temperature

2 tablespoons softened butter
2 tablespoons crushed pistachios finely chopped

Peel pears and cut in half lengthwise leaving stem attached to one half. Remove the cores and scoop about a tablespoon of pulp out of each half. Brush pears with lemon juice to prevent browning. Cream together the cheese and butter until soft and fluffy. Fill hollows of the pears with about 1 tablespoon of the cheese/butter mixture and carefully press the pear halves back together. Roll the pears in the chopped nuts and arrange on a serving plate. Chill at least 2 hours or until the cheese is firm.

Serves 4

I do hope you will give these recipes a try the next time you are in the mood for Italian food with a different taste. Until next time, as they say in Italy; buon appetito!

Therapy Dog Flunks Training Test

DEAR PAW’S CORNER: My friend’s Golden Retriever, “Janey,” was training to be a therapy dog, but flunked an important test and needs more training to qualify. What does she mean? I wasn’t aware that emotional support dogs needed extra training — they’re not service dogs. — Barron L., Birmingham, Alabama

DEAR BARRON: It’s true that no training or certification is needed for an owner to declare their pet a companion or emotional support pet. However, the growing need for therapy dogs who provide temporary emotional support to humans going through a crisis or an emotionally difficult time has led to calls for more standardized training in these roles. The American Kennel Club is perhaps the most prominent organization to approve therapy dog certification organizations under specific criteria.

Therapy dogs frequently visit hospitals, nursing homes, classrooms, shelters and even courtrooms to provide comfort to people of all ages. Because of their unique role in working with many different people over the course of a day, these dogs need to be even-tempered and well-socialized, and respond instantly to commands from their handler. Handlers need to pass a background check, because the pair will be working with vulnerable populations.

Some certification groups such as the Alliance of Therapy Dogs will test and observe a potential therapy animal. Their instructor/observer will give the owner advice and guidance during this process. If the dog needs more training or doesn’t have the right temperament, then it won’t be recommended for certification.

It sounds like Janey has the right temperament but needs more behavioral training. I hope her owner goes forward with it, because the world could use more of these wonderful dogs.

Walk-ins & drop offs welcomed appts recommended

Meet Levi! This 1 year old American Pit Bull Terrier mix is such a loving, sweet boy. He has gentlemanly manners, including sitting for treats, walking cooperatively on a leash, responding to the "no" command, and respecting other dogs and kitties. Levi is very affectionate with our staff and volunteers, and anxiously greets visitors with the "full body wag." He loves playing in our doggie exercise yard with his pals here at shelter, so he could easily join a home with existing pets. He has been sweet and gentle with the kiddos he has met at the shelter, and loves the petting and attention. Levi would be a loyal partner for a single person, couple or active retirees. His easy going disposition and gentleness around children would make his an awesome family pet as well. Please stop by the shelter, 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, and meet Levi; bring the kids and your dog(s) for a meet-n-greet. You may just find your newest furry family member. Call 466 4516 for more information, and visit our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, to see more pictures of Levi and the many other wonderful, adoptable animals looking for their forever homes.

flight. Longest Drive awards went to again Therese Mauterer in the first flight, Fran Smith in the second flight, Dinah Knobloch in the third flight and Beryl Laird from the Black Tees. Therese Mauterer had a Birdie on #4 and Dinah Knobloch had a Chip-In on #6. Appears as if Therese had an especially good day - Congrats!

Just a note about the Black Tees. These are official PGA sanctioned tees placed forward of the Red Tees (the closest tees). When playing from these tees you must do so for at least five recorded rounds to establish a Black Tee Handicap. Several of our gals are now beginning to play from these tees and soon a Black Tee Flight will be part of our regular playing schedule.

On the 23rd of the month, we played “Add Par 3s and Par 5s. In the first flight, Ann Nutting and Margaret Sherwood tied for 1st Place and coming in second by only one more stroke was Shirley Halterman. Second Flight winners were Marsha Roberts in 1st Place and Carol Laux and Nancy Sislow tied for second place. The Third Flight also had a tie for 1st place with Sylvia Corban and Beryl Laird recording the same score. Second place was garnered by Ruthie O’Neill. Chip-Ins were recorded by Carole Griffinn on hole #9 and Nancy Sislow on #2.

On the final Tuesday of April we held a Scramble and invited our fellow golf gals from the Eighteen Holers to join us. Eighteen of these gals took us up on our offer and the results were as follows: First Place Team winners were: Linda DeParto, Mary Alice Harfoush, Margaret Papaleo and Carol Wyrosdick. Second Place Team included Sylvia Corban, Rita Durham, Terrie Garrett and Marsha Roberts. And, last but certainly not least, Third Place Team was composed of Therese Mauterer, Sandra Merdinyan, Vivian Strader and a Ghost.

As usual we invite you to join us for 9 holes of golf and make some new friends. Contact our Club House (228-255-3910) for additional information about joining the Diamondhead Nines. We would love to meet ya’ll.

Even Exchange by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

I CAN'T SAY HAVE A BLESSED DAY

BY GARY ANDREWS

GARY@GADEVOTIONALS.COM

At a large restaurant recently I along with my wife and other friends bowed our head to thank the Lord for the food He provided. Our waitress had walked up to our table as we were praying and stood there until we had finished. As our prayer ended we looked up at her and she said "Thank You".

She went on to explain that her superiors told her and the other waitresses and waiters they could not mention anything to anyone about the Lord. They had been told that they could not say "Have a blessed day" to anyone that was leaving the restaurant.

We are living in a sick, sinful world. Our group was in a large city and temptation was all around us. We, as Christians, stood out like a sore thumb but the superiors of the restaurant wouldn't say anything to us because we were spending the almighty dollar in their establishment.

It is really bothersome to me that Christians go to work for these large companies and are told they cannot use their Christian influence around the customers. Many of us will notice that some large retailers have even gotten away from saying "Merry Christmas" because of the fear of retaliation from a few who don't believe in God.

Greed and the sinful nature have just about taken over all society. People are more interested in what they can get for themselves instead of where they are going to spend eternity. It seems that the generations of Christian owners who developed the nation's largest companies and retailers are or have gone home to be with the Lord and those coming behind them have no interest in anything but themselves and what the world has to offer.

It seems that Christianity is a dying breed; however I disagree with this analogy. There are many Christians in the workplace that are told how to act and what to say. They are not to offend anyone that comes in the door to spend money because someone may not take kindly to their Christian advances.

We have become a society of scare tactics from those that employ us. Political correctness has advanced to the level that many Christians are afraid to stand up for Christ because of the consequences that will come their way. Many have forgotten what Jesus said in Matthew 26:31; "All of you will be made to stumble because of Me this night, for it is written: I will strike the Shepherd, and the sheep of the flock will be scattered."

This was at a time when Peter told Jesus that he would never deny Him but Jesus told Peter that he would deny Him three times before the rooster crows. Aren't we doing the same thing today?

As Christians we say that we will always stand up for Christ but we don't when we are working for someone that tells us we can't. We have become dependent upon the world and are afraid to step up and stand up for Christ means to us and our salvation experience.

Even though our waitress had been told she would be fired for saying "have a blessed day" to customers, she was willing to talk about her Christian walk among Christians. It is my hope that her example will speak about her Christian witness and that her superiors will learn from her. Anti-Christian influences cannot say anything about your actions and the life you lead. They may tell you what and what not you can say but I have always heard that "I had rather see a sermon than to hear one". We can be a witness through our actions without intimidation from others.

Prayer: Thank you Lord that I live in a community where I can talk about you without fear of retaliation. Thank you for your love and I pray that I will always be an example for you. Amen.

997 Public Notices

NOTICE THAT THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS WILL CONDUCT A HEARING PURSUANT TO MISS. CODE SECTION 19-5-105
RE: 5055 Cardinal Road, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, pursuant to Mississippi Code Section 19-5-105, will hold a public hearing concerning 5055 Cardinal Road, Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi 39520 to determine whether the described property constitutes a menace to the public health and safety of the community. All owners of the property or other interested persons are hereby notified of the hearing and of their right to attend and present any and all such evidence they desire or deem appropriate concerning this matter.

The County informs the owner that an adjudication at the hearing that the property or parcel of land is in need of cleaning will authorize the board of supervisors to reenter the property or parcel of land for a period of one (1) year after the hearing without any further hearing, if notice is posted on the property or parcel of land and at the county courthouse or another place in the county where such notices are generally posted at least seven (7) days before the property or parcel of land is reentered for cleaning. A copy of the required notice mailed and posted as required by this section shall be recorded in the minutes of the board of supervisors in conjunction with the hearing required by this section.

If at such hearing the board of supervisors shall in its resolution adjudicate such parcel of land in its then condition to be a menace to the public health and safety of the community, the board of supervisors may, if the owner not do so himself, proceed to have the land cleaned by cutting weeds, filling ditches, and removing rubbish, dilapidated fences, outside toilets, dilapidated buildings and other debris, and draining cesspools and standing water. Thereafter, the board of supervisors may at its next regular meeting by resolution adjudicate the actual cost of cleaning the land and may also impose a penalty not to exceed One Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($1,500.00) or fifty percent (50%) of the actual cost, whichever is more. The cost and any penalty shall become an assessment against the property. The "cost assessed against the property" means either the cost to the county of using its own employees to do the work or the cost to the county of any contract executed by the county to have the work done, and administrative costs and legal costs of the county.

The County—in the instance it makes a finding that the property is a menace—may reenter the property or parcel of land to maintain cleanliness without further notice of hearing no more than six (6) times in any twelve-month period with respect to removing dilapidated buildings, dilapidated fences and outside toilets, and no more than twelve (12) times in any twenty-four-month period with respect to cutting grass and weeds and removing rubbish, personal property and other debris on the land. The expense of cleaning the property shall not exceed an aggregate amount of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) per year, or the fair market value of the property subsequent to cleaning, whichever is less. Supervisors may, if the property is deemed a menace, enter the property up to those number of times and that frequently, and incur up to those costs. The board of supervisors may assess the same penalty each time the property or land is cleaned as otherwise provided in this section.

Any assessment authorized by Mississippi Code Section 19-5-105 shall be a lien against the property and may be enforced in the office of the circuit clerk of the county as other judgments are enforced, and the tax collector of the county shall, upon order of the board of supervisors, proceed to sell the land to satisfy the lien as now provided by law for the sale of lands for delinquent taxes. Furthermore, the property owner whose land has been sold pursuant to this section shall have the same right of redemption as now provided by law for the sale of lands for delinquent taxes. All decisions rendered under the provisions of this section may be appealed in the same manner as other appeals from county boards. Hearing set by order of the Board of Supervisors of May 6, 2019.

Helping Birds by Making Art!

SEA COAST ECHO

Students from Waveland Elementary School are making the beaches a little brighter, and safer for baby birds.

Art students from the Bay-Waveland School District began a project in May 2018 to help protect the nesting sites of Least Terns on Mississippi's beaches, and their efforts are about to become a reality.

Audubon Mississippi, a non-profit environmental advocacy group headquartered in Moss Point, partnered with elementary art teacher Dale Pohl to present lessons, hands-on activities, and art activities about the coastal birds for all first- and second-graders at Waveland Elementary.

After learning about the birds' habits, habitats, and nesting concerns, students were able to create a mixed media scene of a least tern chick. Second graders used their knowledge of tern chicks and the dangers humans impose on nests to create posters intended to warn beachgoers to watch out for nests, eggs, and chicks, which are in shallow holes and well camouflaged.

Thirty-seven posters were selected to have designs printed on metal signs, to be permanently installed at known nesting sites. Audubon

Mississippi expects the colorful signs from a child's perspective, to be more eye-catching than current warning signs, and protect the nests and birds better, while educating the public and families.

Last year, there were about 1,200 Least Tern nests on mainland Mississippi beaches in Harrison county alone, which produced about 1,100 chicks. The species is in decline, largely due to hazards such as development (loss of habitat), fireworks, dogs, trash (which brings predators such as crows), extreme weather, and careless beachgoers.

The signs will be on display Saturday, May 11 at Tern Fest 2019, at the Barksdale Pavilion in Jones Park, Gulfport Ms. Signs will be installed later this spring/early summer.

Happy
 from the
THE SEA COAST
ECHO

WHAT IS MOTHER'S DAY?

Mother's Day is celebrated to honor all mothers and express gratitude for the hardships they bear in bringing up a child. Most countries including US, Australia, Canada and India celebrate Mother's Day on the second Sunday of May. Mother's Day came into being due to the efforts made by Ms. Julia Ward Howe and Ms. Anna Jarvis. The Resolution for having a dedicated Mother's Day was signed by US President Woodrow Wilson on May 8, 1914. Since then people across the world have been celebrating Mother's Day with joy and devotion.
